How Chicks Are Pedigreed

The Missouri Pacific Railroad, realizing that cotton growing promises to be an important part of the farm operations of Southeast Missouri, has decided to bring the cotton educational cars to Sikeston, Monday, March 17, arriving here at 8:45 and remaining until 4:45 p. m. the same day.

The Agricultural Development Department of the railroad has fitted up what is called an Agricultural Progress Exhibit Car, which together with a lecture car will be used in Southeast Missouri to carry information direct to the business men and the farmers, on up-to-date methods of cotton growing, believing that it is performing a service that will be appreciated.

The exhibits and lectures, including motion pictures will show what has been done in the way of up-to-date cotton growing methods, also will demonstrate the value of fertilizers, the proper spacing of cotton in the row, results from different varieties, etc.

Local business men are asked to assist in this campaign by advertising the exhibits and getting the farmers and others interested in better farming to visit the exhibits. The school children should be given an opportunity also.

A novel feature of these exhibits is a complete radio outfit with a loud speaker, which is furnished by the Radio Department of Stix, Baer & Fuller, St. Louis for the purpose of furnishing special programs as a part of the campaign. The use of the radio in keeping the farmers posted on market conditions will be demonstrated.

This campaign is in charge of Jno. T. Stinson, Director of Agricultural Development of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, St. Louis, and T. M. Williams, Agricultural Agent, Missouri Pacific Railroad at Little Rock, Ark.

Dawes Is Not Blinded

Commenting on the progress of the Dawes committee and its investigation of German finances, the New York Evening Posts says:

"Germany has been housecleaning ever since she heard General Dawes and his committee on reparations were to visit Berlin.

"The dust seems to have been intended for the eyes of General Dawes, et al, that they might not see to clearly the flaws in budget and tax schedule. If there was any such intention it proved futile.

The best advice that could be given the German people is, "Don't let your representatives try any sharp practices or evasion of the truth with the American members of this special committee. They are bigger men in public and industrial life than most of those with whom they are dealing. For once, remember that you have to think straight, act straight and continue to play straight. The eyes of the world are watching the progress of this committee, the success of which means so much toward the permanent establishment of world peace and renewed industrial activity."

Mrs. Phonie Nelson spent the week-end at Charleston with her folks.

Ira Molineaux, a special writer for the Twice-a-Week Globe-Democrat, was in Sikeston and called at The Standard office. He will prepare some articles on cotton farming in Southeast Missouri for his paper.

Frank Deane of Matthews was a business visitor in Sikeston Tuesday. He is a candidate for sheriff of New Madrid County and believes he has an excellent show to win the Democratic nomination. It has been a long time since a sheriff was selected from the upper end of New Madrid County and Mr. Deane is willing for the honors this time, to come his way.

The poultry department of the Missouri College of Agriculture is hatching 6000 chicks this spring, and a great many of these will be pedigree. In building up high producing strains it is necessary, of course, to know definitely the ancestry of each chick. To make sure of this knowledge each chick is hatched inside a mosquito netting sack so that a leg number can be attached to the chick before the eggshell and its identifying number are lost.

In setting the incubators only trapnested eggs are used, says H. L. Kempster, chairman of the poultry department. Trapnesting makes it possible to record on the egg the hen's number and the number of the pen, the latter indicating the male ancestry of the embryo within the egg.

The exhibits and lectures, including motion pictures will show what has been done in the way of up-to-date cotton growing methods, also will demonstrate the value of fertilizers, the proper spacing of cotton in the row, results from different varieties, etc.

Local business men are asked to assist in this campaign by advertising the exhibits and getting the farmers and others interested in better farming to visit the exhibits. The school children should be given an opportunity also.

The complete record of each chick thus pedigree at the College shows not only the ancestry, but also the egg production record of each female ancestor as far back as trap-nest records have been kept. In this way it is possible to discover the high producing families and, by combining them, to improve the high laying strains.

The College of Agriculture does not sell baby chicks. All that are hatched by the poultry department are used to keep up the flocks that are used in experimental work and in student instruction.

Is Not Used For Ditching

"Can sodatol be used for blasting ditches to drain wet places?" is an inquiry which A. J. McAdams, specialist in land clearing for the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service, receives in the mail every day. Sodatol is the war salvage explosive made from surplus war materials and which is being distributed by the Agricultural Extension Service to the farmers of Missouri for the actual cost of handling.

Sodatol is not adapted to ditch blasting from a practical standpoint.

It can, however, be used for this purpose providing an electric cap is placed in each stick and a blasting machine employed to explode all charges simultaneously, but even then the gases resulting from the explosion are too slow for economical and satisfactory work. Sodatol cannot be used in the "propagated" or "continuous" method of ditch blasting because it contains no nitroglycerine and is therefore very insensitive to shock. For this reason the Agricultural Extension Service advises against the use of sodatol in ditching.

A 50 per cent straight nitroglycerine dynamite is the proper explosive to use when the course of the ditch is through soil containing a large amount of water. Under these conditions the "continuous" or "propagated" method can be used which means that a large number of charges can be exploded with one cap which adds speed to the work and does a more satisfactory job. The water in the soil acts as a "shock carrier" and 50 per cent dynamite being sensitive to shock is set off almost simultaneously. A cap and fuse properly greased and crimped or an electric blasting machine can be used with this method.

"Sodatol", continues Mr. McAdams, "is being distributed primarily for stumps and boulders. When used for this purpose it is just as good as the ordinary 40 per cent ammonium dynamite". The Agricultural Extension Service still has a small surplus on hand from which they can fill small orders immediately. This material is shipped to New Madrid and can be obtained through any County Agent in the district. Now is the best time of all to secure a cheap explosive. So act quick and get those stumps.

one hundred baby chicks of the same variety in order to build up his flock this year. On the same day Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Chevning were assisted by these men in picking out a breeding flock of Barred Plymouth Rocks.

Last Thursday the hat making club of the Salcedo Community met and made eleven new hats, which will be displayed before Easter.

On Tuesday, March 4, the women of the Commerce Community Club met at the home of Mrs. Joe Ellis, and were instructed in hat making by Miss Mary E. Robinson, of the Extension Service, University of Missouri. Twenty new hats were made at a very normal cost. On Thursday, March 6, the ladies of Benton were instructed along the same line. Eight women being present.

A. Mathewson, Agricultural Representative of the duPont Company, A. J. McAdams, Land Clearing Specialist, and A. J. Renner, County Extension Agent, assisted Mike and Joe Pobst in making a Paul Bunyan's Hammer, which will be used in pulling stumps. This hammer is one of the cheapest and most efficient stump pullers that can be made. It will be in action at the demonstration on Mr. Dunn's farm at Chaffee.

The representatives of Scott County who attended the pruning school at Cape Girardeau, on Wednesday, March 5, were: Nick Menz of Chaffee, John R. Scherer, A. C. Miller and Wm. Hawkins of Commerce, L. Hahn and John Ludwige of Kelso, and A. J. Renner, County Extension Agent. The school was conducted by Max Keyser, County Agent of Cape Girardeau, Otis Wade and Asheigh on Tuesday. For the information of Boes of the College of Agriculture.

Land clearing demonstration was directed on the farm of W. S. Dunn, one-half mile south of Chaffee, on Tuesday, March 11. This statement may convey a number of articles which would be indefinite. The fact is that Southeast Missouri has added to its already well ordered program of agricultural development, the news which includes the important first step to convert former timber lands and former undrained lands into productive agriculture acres. It is entirely due to Scott County Agent Renner. At the first effort in this direction started in Scott County, Mr. Renner makes the statement, we have many farms in Scott County burdened with stumps and land which must be drained if we are to keep up the pace set by Southeast Missouri.

Charles Quest, agency supervisor of the John Hancock Insurance Co., of St. Louis, spent Monday in Sikeston with J. C. Lescher, who is the local agent here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Kimes and daughter, Miss Mildred, returned from St. Louis Monday afternoon, where they had been to consult a specialist and have treatment given Miss Mildred for an eye trouble.

U. G. Jacobs, formerly of Sikeston, who has been living in Louisiana for the past few years, has purchased a lot in the Chamber of Commerce addition and expects to start building a nice six-room bungalow, at an early date.

John Meldrum is building a store house of two rooms on Center street that will be used for a work shop and store and display room for paint and wall paper. Mr. Meldrum has built up an enviable business in this line in Sikeston and neighboring towns and his increasing business calls for more room.

LETTER FROM THE AGRICULTURAL BUREAU

Southeast Missouri Movies May Have National Distribution

Upon the invitation of the American Farm Bureau Federation to be allowed an opportunity to review the Southeast Missouri moving picture, the Secretary of the Southeast Missouri Agricultural Bureau has been instructed by the Board of Directors to take the moving picture to the Chicago headquarters of the American Farm Bureau with a view to working out a plan to secure national distribution among the various county farm bureaus of the United States. The American Farm Bureau Federation distributes a number of interesting educational films among the county agents of the country and to other educational agencies. They have become interested in the Southeast Missouri film, and have asked to see it. If it is approved by them it will be sent to all parts of the country and systematically used.

Several Cotton Experiment Fields Located in Southeast Missouri

Professors Miller and Helm, of the College of Agriculture, spent about ten days in the Southeast Missouri district locating cotton experimental fields during the past three weeks. Two fields have already been located near Caruthersville on the Tisdat farm. One field has been located near New Madrid, and will be under the direction of Alfred Stapp. Two fields have been located near Sikeston, one on the farm of Will Sikes and the other on the farm of T. A. Wilson. One field has been located in Mississippi County on Thad Snow's farm. Other fields will be located in the district as rapidly as the men can get to them. The Missouri Experiment Station has recently appointed Mr. King, a southern cotton expert, who will devote his entire time to looking after this experimental work. The experiments will be run for at least five years, and information and data secured and added each year. The College of Agriculture is particularly anxious that it be understood that Mr. King will be a representative of the Experiment Station, and that the experiment of work will be carried out under the direction of the State Experiment Station. Another cotton specialist, Mr. Trotter, who is employed by the Extension Service, will work with Mr. King and will be responsible for imparting the information obtained from the experimental work.

Mrs. John Graham entertained 12 little girls with a party Saturday afternoon from 2:00 until 5:00, the occasion being her little daughter's 8th anniversary. The little Miss received many useful and valuable presents from her little friends. The afternoon was spent in playing games of various kinds and having a real good time. After the little folks had played many games, they were invited into the dining room, where cake and ice cream were served.

Board of Directors Meet At Sikeston

The Board of Directors of the Southeast Missouri Agricultural Bureau held their regular monthly meeting at Sikeston last week. The following members were present: President John A. Montgomery, Norman D. Blue, Fred Naeter, C. L. Harrison, Thad Snow, X. Caverino, W. E. Heissner and C. O. Raine. The April meeting of the Board will be held at Kennett during the first part of April. The Board will be guests at a noon-day luncheon of the Lions Club on that occasion, and a business meeting will follow.

Misses Burns and Roberts, teachers of the Charleston schools, were visitors of our schools here last week.

Mrs. D. H. Allen of East Prairie is the guest of her sister, Miss Josephine Robinson, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Young.

Mrs. May Cresap, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lescher, for the past several weeks, left Saturday for St. Louis to make her home.

Seventeen turkeys, among them some of the classiest individuals of this new bird, were shipped from this city Tuesday to points in five states by Dr. W. T. Patterson, manager of the Ozark Turkey Farm. In some of the shipments were pairs, trios, and individual birds, some to new customers and others to satisfied friends of former years. Poultry fanciers are beginning to realize the superiority of this half-turkey, half-hen fowl that combines the good qualities of both of its ancestors. Although not claiming to be the originator of this wonderful hybrid fowl, Dr. Patterson has met with great success in their hatching. He has some fine specimens, among them "Big Tom", head of the flock. Dr. Patterson has several hundred turkeys and receives many orders for eggs as well as individual birds.

Mrs. W. T. Shanks, who has been spending a few days here with relatives, left Wednesday night for her home in Colorado. Miss Mildred Bowman accompanied her for a visit. Coleman Gray and William Ramsey of Sikeston, Mo., arrived in Cairo today, the former undergoing an eye operation at St. Mary's Infirmary, where he will be a patient for a few days.—Cairo Citizen.

THE SIKESTON STANDARD

The Bludgeoning of Jim Reed

The Anti-Saloon League counsel at Washington lays all the corruption to the "wets". The evidence has gone to show that the ones caught with the goods on them were the "drys" who sold out. This is true of Federal officials as well as State officials.

Children on the way to and from school should be warned by parents and teachers to watch for switching trains, to not crawl under cars, to not attempt to cross streets except at regular crossings. Some small boys of the grade school have even been riding freight cars in motion.

The Standard would like to see the Democratic State Convention, which meets at Springfield in April, endorse Hon. Fred Gardner for President of the United States. He is the strongest and most beloved Democrat in Missouri and it is fitting that this honor is bestowed on him. In a close nomination in New York he would be a dangerous antagonist.

There should be called a meeting of the real Democratic leaders of the State at an early date and go on record as claiming the right to name all political appointments from Missouri should the Democrats elect the President this fall, and they will. Reed should never be permitted to attempt to build another political machine in the State with which to crush real Democracy. Senatorial courtesy in Washington would not permit Reed to hold up confirmation for spite work, or if so, better straight Republican holdovers than political traitors.

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party"—if they have any good men. "Turn the rascals out" used to be the cry of the Democrats, but it looks as though the Republican leaders in State and Nations were afraid to start for fear there would be few left. Never has there been so much smoke and so much fire as has been discovered in Republican quarters. Our Charlie Prather from Advance in Stoddard County is accused of getting beer money. The same intimation is given in the case of Heber Nations. His brother, Gus, the dry State agent, made a suspicious raid on a protected brewery one hour before Federal agents expected to close on them. This move was made in an endeavor to "cover" the tracks of those giving protection. Governor Hyde is embarrassed but will clean the house of all under suspicion. It looks as though men sell their honor for mighty little money.

We are told that friends of the two candidates for Mayor are doing some pretty ugly talking this early in the campaign. This should not be countenanced as it is positively disgraceful. We have been a citizen of Sikeston for 11 years and in that time neither of these gentlemen have been arrested for being drunk and disorderly, neither of them have been indicted or arrested on any criminal charge or for a misdemeanor. They are both good citizens and law abiding and if it comes to vilifying and mal slinging to be elected Mayor, both should be beaten. What we want in Sikeston is a mayor who is progressive and clean in mind and habits. Neither of these gentlemen have given out their platform and it is on this that the people should stand. How do you stand on sewers, on paved streets, on more school room and a gymnasium, on keeping out fakers and skin game artists, on seeing that the ordinances are obeyed, on protecting and beautifying our parks and public institutions. Pay no attention to slurs on either of their characters, but look to their standing on the questions of the day.

The trouble with our Jamie is just the trouble with most of us. We get one thing only to want something else. Jamie has been doing as badly in the Senate as he possibly could do anywhere else, and we can see no reason in the world why he should not be perfectly dissatisfied. Evidently he isn't, or unless we misjudge him he would be unhappy. He wants now to be President, a place for which he has every disqualification we know anything about. Of course, the country could not think of it. It is compelled now and then to think of itself. The White House is surrounded by traditions which should be preserved at least until the people capture the government. It would never do in this age of innocence for tourists to see Jamie chasing some body across the White House grounds with something twisted off the wall en passant. Some day, no doubt, the White House will be a workshop mindful of the necessities of the republic; but for the present it is no more than a tradition laid away in lavender until its usefulness can be restored. That is much too delicate a china shop to turn a bull into at the moment. We are for leaving Jamie where he is doing all the harm he should be doing. One thing at a time.

—McAdams in Post-Dispatch.

Fooling The Farmer

Again the Democrats of Missouri have repudiated Jim Reed. Four years ago, in convention assembled, they condemned him and his conduct, and by overwhelming vote refused to permit him to represent them in national convention. Not since then have they had an opportunity to express their opinion of him, free from alien interference. He won the Democratic nomination for Senator two years ago, it is true, but it was Democratic only in name. The majority of Democrats voted against him, but they were overcome by the votes of Republicans who cast Democratic ballots in the primaries in the cities. He was nominated for the Senate by the Democrats of Missouri, nor was he elected by them. In both primary and election the result was determined by Republican votes in his favor.

Yet knowing this, and knowing the antagonism of the Democrats not only of Missouri but of the country, he had the audacity to put himself up as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, and to ask the Democrats of Missouri to endorse him as their "favorite son". God save the mark! Jim Reed the favorite son of the Democrats of Missouri, whom he had repeatedly betrayed and who had publicly and violently repudiated him! Such brazen and conscienceless effrontery has never been equaled in American politics. But it had one virtue—it gave the Democrats of Missouri a chance to tell him what they thought of him. And they have done so, emphatically. They have told him, and they have told the country, that he is not the "favorite son" of Missouri, that on contrary he and his works are utterly condemned and repudiated by the Democrats of this state.

This overwhelming defeat should finally eliminate Reed as a disturbing factor in Missouri politics. It should, but it will not. Unfortunately for Missouri, and for the country, Reed is still a member of the United States Senate, still in a position to make trouble, to exercise his extraordinary talents for destruction. And such are the attractions of his personality and the persuasiveness of his voice, that he will still have ardent followers. But the Democrats of Missouri may feel, at least, that they have finally disposed of him as a dominating factor in Missouri politics. It should, but it will not. Unfortunately for Missouri, and for the country, Reed is still a member of the United States Senate, still in a position to make trouble, to exercise his extraordinary talents for destruction. But the Democrats of Missouri may feel, at least, that they have finally disposed of him as a dominating factor in Missouri politics.

If the President really wanted to benefit the farmer rather than fool him, he would take steps to assist him in marketing his crop. The American farmer is not so foolish as to follow such a flimsy appeal to his interest. If he is to be enticed into the Republican camp, it will have to be through something more alluring than the empty offer to increase the tariff rate on wheat. The farmer is a pretty clever individual and he not only can see that the President's movement will result in no increase in the price paid him, but that it will be used merely as a pretext by those who control the wheat market and the mills to increase the price to the consumer.—St. Louis Star.

The millionaire trust who is manufacturing explosives, has got a mess of nerve to ask the Farm Bureaus throughout the country to strongly recommend their article for blasting purposes. Why don't they take space in the papers and pay for same. We will be glad to print all news, but hate to be imposed on.

Not until the 16th century did the mirror become an article of the household.

Flowers can be kept back for a special occasion by putting them, when not quite open, in a cool, dark place, such as the cellar.

Don't Play Politics

The two most urgent public questions at present time are tax reduction and dealing with corruption which has been unearthed in official circles in Washington.

President Coolidge feels with all his fellow countrymen a depressing sense of humiliation at the gross betrayal of public interest that has been disclosed.

The taxation question as well as tax or criminal action of officials performing public duty is a problem for both Republicans and Democrats. The people of the whole United States have an interest from the standpoint of lessening tax bills and securing honest administration of public affairs regardless of what party is in power.

It will not entice the farmer into the Republican camp, and it assuredly will not lure the wheat-raiser into a belief that the tariff increase is going to increase the price at the farm. In the first place, there is only a comparatively small amount of Canadian wheat as the Great Lakes open for spring navigation, the order in fact is an effort to reduce opposition of the wheat-grower at the polls in November. If the American farmer is as shrewd as he is credited with being, the President's gesture will fail in both directions.

The pity is that self-seeking politicians will attempt to use present situation to further political ends rather than to advance the best interest of our government.

We must register our approval of honest public officials and demand tax reduction if we expect to eliminate dishonesty in public office, or increasing tax bills.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
COMMITTEES MEET

Having decided to have every other regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a meeting of the officers and members of the various committees, the first meeting of the committees was held in the Chamber of Commerce room on March 10th, with 27 members present. All the officers and every committee was represented and an instructive meeting was held. Under the Civics Committee many things were brought up and ordered taken care of. Under the Safety Division, Joe Matthews suggested that measures be taken to stop the school children from playing around the freight cars, crawling underneath them, and hopping trains, as the children are becoming very careless in this respect. He also called the attention to the fact, that the children are also very careless in crossing the streets in front of motor vehicles and stated that a campaign of education might well be instituted in the schools to eradicate these careless habits. The matter was placed in the hands of Supt. Roy V. Ellise, a member of the Civics Committee.

Under the Charity Division of the committee, it was decided that no solicitors of funds or any charity whatsoever would be received by the members of the Chamber of Commerce unless said solicitors first presented a letter of endorsement, from the Committee on Charity. C. C. White was made chairman of this division and all solicitors should be sent to him for their credentials. The industry committee, J. A. Young, Chairman, had a compressor man present, who gave some very interesting data on the feasibility of establishing a cotton compress in Sikeston in which the members present were greatly interested. Mr. Young also reported that the plans for the new Frisco depot were ready and that the new building would be on the east side of the railroad from Prosperity to Kendall streets.

Under the Commerce Committee, which handles publicity and advertising, among other things, Mr. Brenton stated that he had been in St. Louis with some other Southeast Missourians, trying to interest some of the big bankers, insurance men, newspaper men and wholesalers, in a trip to Southeast Missouri next Fall to look us over. The plan was to have the delegation to spend a night in each town and to spend the night in the homes of the citizens so as to get personally acquainted with some of them. He was of the opinion that the delegation could be induced to make the trip. In this connection A. H. Hill stated that a great deal of worthwhile advertising would result from such a trip and as an illustration mentioned that the New York and St. Louis Sales Managers of Butler Bros., visited Hardwicks Economy Store for the purpose of looking over the arrangement of the dry goods department in the front part of the store, and were so well pleased with it, that they established a model store in the Butler Bros. store in St. Louis, modeled after the plan as laid out here. Naturally in showing the model store to visitors, the originator of the idea would be mentioned as well as the city in which the original store is located. Obviously this is real publicity.

UNION SIGNAL DAY OBSERVED BY THE W. C. T. U.

The local W. C. T. U. observed Union Signal day, with an all day meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Lesser.

The ladies served an Union Signal luncheon. The name, Union Signal, was written on a paper in a perpendicular line, and the guests had to fill out the line at each letter, making the menu. Each guest was given a separate piece of paper and pencil. After luncheon, Mrs. M. J. Thomas led with a splendid Union Signal program. Mrs. Mary Milem made a very effective talk on "Why We Need the Union Signal". Then all subscribers present gave a reason why they were a subscriber. A little playette, "I See By the Papers", was given by Mrs. M. J. Thomas, Mrs. Louis Watkins and Miss Virginia Freeman. After the program, a short business meeting was held. A committee consisting of Mrs. J. L. Tanner and Mrs. Lehman will meet with Miss Adilda McCord, Principal of the Grade School, and make plans for beautifying the school grounds. Mrs. Mabel Baker and Mrs. Lehman were appointed to meet as a committee at the Scout meeting on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Thomas asked for new subscribers to the Union Signal, and ten responded. Mrs. J. H. Kready subscribed for the Signal to be sent to the grade school library and Mrs. J. H. Hess subscribed for one to be sent to the High School Library. Mrs. Maude Stubbs resigned as President of the W. C. T. U. and Mrs. M. J. Thomas as vice-president, will act as president for the remainder of the year.

"Here's Why I Like It"

ASK your painter why he likes to use Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint. He will tell you that it goes on more smoothly and easily than ordinary paints, that it covers better, that it dries right, is true in color, that it retains its freshness and wears for a surprisingly long time under the most severe weather conditions.

There is wide variety of pleasing colors from which you can select a combination of pleasing harmony. And you can be sure of long satisfaction and economy, too.

MRS. MORROW OUT FOR
SECRETARY OF STATE

Warrensburg, Mo., March 12.—Mrs. Kate Shockey Morrow, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, informed her friends in her native town here today that she will become a candidate for Secretary of State, and will make formal announcement of her candidacy in a short time.

Mrs. Morrow is widely known throughout Missouri and has for many years held positions of trust in different state departments at Jefferson City. She is the widow of Col. Al Morrow, who was the confidential secretary of four Democratic Governors.

"Kentucky has a woman Secretary of State," say her friends at Warrensburg, "why not Missouri?"

Her friends here predict there will be a friendly feeling toward her candidacy over the state.

Dr. Frank Blanton spent the week in North Missouri in Macon and Paris visiting relatives.

CANDIDATES WHO CAME OUT
FOR REED IN QUANDARY

St. Louis, March 11.—Democratic aspirants for state offices who accepted the invitation of Ed A. Glenn, campaign manager for Senator Reed, to "come out for Reed", and who, in some instances, issued statements urging that Reed be endorsed for President, have incurred hostility of the better anti-Reed men, now triumphant in their victory over the Senator. The support gained from Reed adherents by their action is, on the other hand, probably negligible, in the opinion of many astute observers.

George H. Moore, former United States revenue collector and a candidate for governor, issued a public statement urging support of Reed.

Frank Armstrong of Harrison, Mo., former employee of the state senate and a candidate for secretary of state, also espoused Reed's cause.

Elmer Jones of Lapita, former state representative and a candidate for attorney general, made a similar declaration.

Efforts of Glenn to induce other candidates to join with Reed were unsuccessful. Robert E. L. Marrs of Carthage, a candidate for the nomination for state auditor; Willis N. Meredith of Poplar Bluff, an aspirant for attorney general; Dr. Arthur L. Nelson of Bunceton, an aspirant for governor, and virtually every other prospective candidate was solicited but turned down the request.

Meredith and Marrs were both at Hotel Jefferson while the Reed conference was held. Glenn told them Reed would sweep the state and that his support and that of his campaign organization would go to those aspirants for state offices who had helped him. Marrs told Glenn he was running for secretary of state and not for United States Senator. Meredith who is dry, and was the dry candidate four years ago, gave a similar answer.

Jones issued a statement from his home in Lapita urging that Missouri Democrats support Reed.

Mrs. Geo. A. Bruce left Wednesday for St. Louis to be gone for a few days.

Mrs. Moore Greer spent Thursday at Charleston with her mother, Mrs. Amy Marshall.

It was a surprise to friends of Hunter Albritton to learn of his marriage a week ago to Miss Beulah Freeman of New Madrid. They will be at the home of Mr. Albritton's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Albritton.

The Woman's Club held their regular meeting in the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance. After the regular business of the Club was disposed of, the program for the afternoon, "American Citizenship", was given by Prof. Roy V. Ellise, who made a splendid talk that was appreciated by those present. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roy V. Ellise on North Ranney, on March 25, for members only.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM NEW MADRID

The community was deeply grieved and shocked at the announcement of the death of Miss Harriet Agatha Dawson, which occurred at St. Mary's Infirmary, Cairo, Sunday evening, March 9, 1924, at 6:15 o'clock, following an operation on Saturday, for tumor in her side. Always of delicate health, her suffering became so intense, in the last two or three weeks, she visited the hospital for an X-ray examination, the diagnosis being such, an operation was advised by physicians. Miss Dawson was born in this city February 4, 1885, and died at St. Mary's Infirmary, Cairo, Ill., March 9, 1924, age 39 years, 1 month and 5 days old and was the eldest daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Dawson. She was related to many of the oldest and prominent families throughout Southeast Missouri and had many friends who loved her for her disposition. She was a consistent member of the Catholic church and was noted for her Christian character. During the past year she served as Deputy Recorder under S. R. Hunter, Jr. Her remains were brought to New Madrid on the 5 o'clock train Monday and was met at the train by a concourse of relatives and friends. Funeral services were held at the Immaculate Church of Conception Tuesday morning at 9:00, conducted by Fr. D. J. Ryan. Interment at the Evergreen Cemetery. The deceased is survived by her mother, four sisters and six brothers, Mrs. Dixie Dawson, sisters Miss Columba Dawson, Mrs. J. P. Hunter, Mrs. Wm. Mann and Mrs. W. R. Pinnell, brothers, Doyne, Paul, Luke, Ralph and Harold of this city and Gallard, of St. Louis, who have the profound sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

We, your committee on Resolutions, beg to make and do offer the following report:

Be it resolved, by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention assembled, that we note with extreme grief and regret the untimely death of our great Leader and Statesman, Woodrow Wilson, whose record as a citizen and the holder of the highest office of our country, has left in the Archives of the his country and the hearts of the people a heritage beyond price and an inspiration to further generations.

Be it further resolved by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention, W. H. Meredith, for the office of attorney general of the State of Missouri.

Be it further resolved by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention assembled, that the delegates selected by this Convention to attend the State Convention at Springfield, Mo., go without instructions thereto; and that the vote of this County cast at said Convention be cast as a unit and the delegates this day selected or any of them so attending, shall cast the vote of this County.

Be it further resolved by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention assembled, that we, as Democrats, do not endorse the candidacy of either Senator James A. Reed or the Hon. Wm. G. McAdoo for the nomination of President.

The "life tree" of Jamaica grows and thrives for months after being uprooted and exposed to the sun.

When emptying the carpet sweeper remove all threads and line with an old comb, then wipe inside of box and brush bristles with a cloth dipped in kerosene. This will prevent dust when sweeping.

There was always one man who could beat Senator Reed, and that was himself. He was finally beaten because he ran against himself. Hitherto someone else has insisted upon getting into the race, and it was always someone the Senator could beat. Likely he was as much responsible as anyone else for getting these opponents out. At any rate, it was when he found himself running against himself that he first displayed concern, then fear, and at the last panic. He went down under himself, with himself on top. It was a resounding fall, naturally since there were two of them.—McAdams in Post-Dispatch.

There was always one man who could beat Senator Reed, and that was himself. He was finally beaten because he ran against himself. Hitherto someone else has insisted upon getting into the race, and it was always someone the Senator could beat. Likely he was as much responsible as anyone else for getting these opponents out. At any rate, it was when he found himself running against himself that he first displayed concern, then fear, and at the last panic. He went down under himself, with himself on top. It was a resounding fall, naturally since there were two of them.—McAdams in Post-Dispatch.

"SILENT COMMAND" IS FINE LESSON IN GRIT & LOYALTY

"The Silent Command" is a William Fox spectacular feature picture that has been booked at the Malone Theatre for Wednesday.

Its author is Rufus King. J. Gordon Edwards, the celebrated director of "The Queen of Sheba", "Nero" and other famous Fox productions, transferred the story from scenario form to the screen. The acting company comprises the name of several of the foremost bistrionic artists of the screen and stage.

Not since Edw. Everett Hale's remarkable story "The Man Without a Country" has anything been written that teaches courage and loyalty with such telling force and dramatic power. The keynote is struck in the very opening of the picture—vigorous mental and physical action that holds the interest from start to finish.

When the story begins Captain Richard Decatur, U. S. N., who is living at the executive mansion of the Governor of the Canal Zone, is being watched by three foreign spies. The trio have planted a dictaphone in the library of the governor and learn that valuable plans, drawn by the naval officer, have been put into a secret safe in the library. Louis Hisston, the leader of the plotters, determines to obtain the plans. The governor's mansion is set on fire and an attempt is made on his life. Aid by Captain Decatur, he fights off his assailants, after throwing the plans into the flames.

This dramatic introduction is followed by a series of startling and intensely interesting incidents in which the inner workings of the United States Secret Service are revealed. There are scenes in the hidden retreat of the spies, glimpses of night life in New York, flashes of the movements of high officials in Washington, a fight for life during a storm at sea, and a shipwreck that leads in realism and thrill anything of this nature ever shown on the screen.

Volcanic Lava Tides

The discovery of daily and monthly "tides" in lava in the crater of Kilauea volcano in the Hawaiian Islands was made recently by Dr. T. A. Jaggar, director of the Hawaiian volcano observatory of the United States weather bureau. The observatory is on Kilauea.

Dr. Jaggar says the observations might be valuable in predicting future eruptions. The liquid lava shows a twice-a-day fluctuation in level of from two to seven feet, a daily variation of three to five feet, and a monthly shifting of the time of maximum and minimum level. This would not be the case if the tides were due to weather conditions which change irregularly, but it might be due, Dr. Jaggar says, to control by the sun and moon.

The hard lava floor of the crater shows a daily change in level of about one foot, but the times of maximum and minimum are nearly opposite those for the liquid lava, the high level occurring in the morning in the case of the liquid and after midnight in the case of the solid lava during a period of two months when observations were taken.

Ehlers of New Madrid.

The officers elected at the first meeting were: M. F. Ehlers, President; E. F. Sharp, Vice-President; J. E. McCord, Treasurer and J. M. Miles, Secretary.

The purpose of the organization is to furnish credit for production purposes in New Madrid County.

Board of Directors of Missouri Cotton Growers Association to Meet

The monthly Board Meeting of the Directors of the Missouri Cotton Growers Co-operative Association will be held at the Association office at New Madrid on Thursday, March 20th at 10 a. m. The Board of Directors is composed of the following members of the Association:

X. Caverno, W. H. Tanner, J. K. Robbins, O. J. Butler, A. R. Zimmerman, John A. Montgomery, Ellis A. Jones, R. L. Shelby and C. O. Rainey.

The association will be represented at the Board meeting of the Arkansas Cotton Growers Association at Little Rock on Tuesday, March 18th, by John A. Montgomery and X. Caverno.

A total of $39,906.84 was sent the members of the Missouri Cotton Growers Co-operative Association from the office of the Arkansas Association on February 22. The Arkansas Association is selling the cotton for the Missouri Association. Payments are made from time to time as sufficient funds are accumulated from the proceeds of sale of members' cotton. It is sold in pools according to its value and as the market is in a condition to take it. Each member shares in the average price of the proceeds of each pool at the end of the season when all the cotton is sold.

The amount of money sent the members by counties is as follows:

Butler County	$ 551.24
Cape Girardeau	853.49
Dunklin	1311.43
Mississippi	8939.17
New Madrid	15666.30
Pemiscot	3013.23
Ripley	122.49
Scott	3944.96
Stoddard	3504.53
Total	$39906.84

Cotton Belt Special to Reach Missouri March 17th

On February 18th what is known as the Cotton Belt "Better and More Cotton" special train was made up under the direction of P. T. Cole, Agricultural Commissioner of the Cotton Belt and began a tour of its lines which will terminate at Dexter on March 20th.

"The slogan of the special," said Mr. Cole, "is 'More and Better Cotton on Less Acreage'" and the whole plant was born out of the definite decision of Cotton Belt officials that the fortunes of agricultural interests along the route of the Cotton Belt are identified with its interests. We recognize, Mr. Cole, that cotton is the major product in that territory served by our system. A desire to help up the general prosperity, increase the purchasing power of cotton growers and thus help ourselves ultimately finally took form in this, the first cotton train ever operated by any railroad. Every business, said Mr. Cole, has recognized and adopted progressive methods as fast as they have presented themselves. Agriculture alone having failed to properly organize and take advantage of improved production, handling and marketing methods. We hope, he said, to show through the exhibits on this train and by lectures by specialists who accompany it what has been accomplished and what further can be achieved with modern methods.

Co-operating with the Cotton Belt and Mr. Cole the following have filled two large cars with one of the most interesting collections of cotton exhibits ever got together: The U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Southern Soil Improvement Committee, the Texas Seed Breeders' Association, the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Marketing Association, the Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, the Missouri Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, numerous farm implement manufacturers of boll weevil poison and the College of Agriculture of the University of Arkansas, and several southern textile mills.

G. S. Meloy, Cotton Specialist U. S. Department of Agriculture is in charge of the department's exhibits showing the standards of American cotton recently adopted as world wide, and the damage resulting to cotton not warehoused. It is interesting to note that the department conducted experiments which showed that cotton loses from 7 to 232 pounds per bale when not housed. J. C. Pridmore, agronomist, represents the Southern Soil Improvement Committee, and explains in a very thorough manner the proper analysis and fertilization of soils.

A. W. Jordan of the Mebane cotton seed company is in charge of the pure seed exhibits and in his numerous talks has consistently advocated careful selection of seed as to pedigree and percentage of germination.

A representative of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Marketing Association accompanied the special to Texarkana and Jesse M. Miles, secretary of the Missouri Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association will become attached to the special when it reaches Missouri. Carl E. Bailey, Assistant Secretary of the Arkansas Cotton Growers Co-operative Association, is representing the Association on the special throughout Arkansas and will leave the train when it reaches Campbell. In this connection it is interesting to note, and adds a touch of local color, that Mr. Bailey spent his boyhood in Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas. He finished high school at Campbell in 1912 and has since been admitted to the practice of law in Arkansas. He is quite well known throughout Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas.

E. A. Hodson, specialist with the extension division of the Arkansas college of Agriculture delivers an address at each stop in which he details the result of cotton spacing experiments, etc., which have been conducted by the experiment station of that college.

The special, consisting of two exhibit cars and a cafe-diner for the accommodation of those in charge of the exhibits, is in charge of Mr. Cole. He states that 43 stops were made in Texas and that more than 25,000 viewed the exhibits and listened to the lectures. A total of 26 points will be visited in Arkansas. At no point visited thus far, Mr. Cole states, has less than 300 inspected the exhibits and listened to the lectures, and in numerous instances more than 1100 have passed thru the train.

The itinerary of the special throughout Southeast Missouri is as follows:

March 18—Campbell, 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., Malden, 4:00 to 5:30 p. m.

March 19—Parma, 9:00 to 10:00 a. m., Lilbourn, 10:45 to 11:45 a. m., New Madrid, 12:15 to 1:15 p. m., East Prairie, 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., Aniston, 3:45 to 4:45 p. m., Wyatt, 5:15 to 6:00 p. m.

March 20—Bernie, 8:30 to 10:30 a. m., Dexter, 11:20 to 2:00 p. m.

Elephant Herds Are Growing

The elephant is a very useful animal both for draft purposes and for ivory. A few years ago seventy thousand were slaughtered annually for their tusks, so that it seemed as though there was a good chance of the big animal's becoming extinct. Wise laws, however have checked the destruction so that the number is increasing. The war gave the elephants their chance and the British authorities in East Africa have also protected them. South of Zambesi the elephant is virtually extinct and the Cape market for ivory has ceased to exist.

At present Mozambique is the center of the ivory trade. Oddly enough, the Portuguese, through whose hands it comes, send nearly all the ivory across to Bombay, where it is sorted and cut and dispatched to the European markets. The world's supply of real elephant ivory is now about two hundred and fifty tons a year.—Scientific American.

Great Results From Millinery School
At Matthews

The Millinery School held at Matthews the first of the week terminated with very successful results. Miss Mary E. Robinson, Millinery Specialist of the University of Missouri can add another well done piece of work to her already large list of achievements. The school was held at the home of Mrs. Leon Swartz and lasted for two days. Eleven ladies attended the two days, and eleven beautiful hats were made at a large saving. The ladies attending were: Miss Flo King, Mrs. Earl Swartz, Mrs. J. R. King, Mrs. Leon Swartz, Miss Verna Hicks, of Matthews; Mrs. C. A. Bissell, Canalou; Mrs. E. A. Hensley, Mrs. Clifford Sutton, Mrs. J. W. Ogle, Mrs. E. E. Caldwell, Mrs. C. C. Buchanan, Sikeston.

The afternoon of the second day, the ladies from Lilbourn, who worked with Miss Robinson at that place, visited the Matthews School, and wore the hats that they had made.

The County Agent has many requests from communities throughout the county for the services of Miss Robinson. He cannot fill them all, however, he hopes to have Miss Robinson for another two-day school during the month of March.

Farmers Becoming Interested In Fertilizer.

From the office of the New Madrid County Farm Bureau comes the information that an increased interest is being displayed by the farmers of New Madrid County, regarding the use of fertilizer for crops, and particularly cotton. A number of orders were received at the office and it was thought advisable to buy a car load of fertilizer. These orders were pooled and, although they would not quite amount to a full car load, the Farm Bureau felt obligated to secure fertilizer for these men, and consequently bought, and have received this fertilizer. All of the demands were for Acid Phosphate and a little mixed fertilizer, which indicates that the farmers are accepting the recommendation of Mr. Trotter, Cotton Specialist of the University of Missouri, and will be held on the

Big Land Clearing Demonstration In New Madrid County March 21

The farmers and landowners of New Madrid County will be given the opportunity of seeing a very unusual and large scale demonstration, showing the use of improved methods in land clearing work. This demonstration will be under the direct supervision of A. J. McAdams, Land Clearing Specialist of the University of Missouri, and will be held on the farm of J. W. Collins, on the outskirts of Lilbourn. Mr. Collins farm is very well adapted for this demonstration having a variety of stumps, many of which will have to be blown, and others which can be removed by the use of mechanical devices. Another feature of desirability, is that the farm is very accessible, situated as it is on a hard surfaced road, and can be approached from any direction.

This is an opportunity which the farmers who have this kind of work to be done, should not miss, as every man present will be given the chance to actually participate in the activity. The actual work will begin about 9:30 a. m., and will continue through until some time in the afternoon. Arrangements will be made to have lunch served on or near the fields.

Ide P. Trotter Cotton Specialist To Establish Cotton Demonstrations in New Madrid County

Mr. Trotter, following his very successful Cotton Schools will again visit New Madrid County on March 19 and 20. The purpose of Mr. Trotter's visit will be to establish four Cotton Demonstrations. These demonstrations will be of variety spacing, and the use of fertilizer. In the variety demonstrations, he will compare several varieties, including Trice, Acalá, Delfos and others. The spacing demonstration will include a comparison of eight, twelve and wider spacings. The fertilizer test will be a comparison of plots from which different fertilizers are used, and plots with no fertilizer on them. The men conducting these demonstrations will be careful and thorough farmers, and the results obtained at the end of the year are expected to be of great value to the farmers of Southeast Missouri.

AGRICULTURE TO RECEIVE $5000 AT STATE FAIR

Sedalia, Mo., March 10.—Five thousand dollars will be awarded in premiums for the best agricultural products exhibited at the Missouri State Fair, August 16 to 23, according to a recent announcement of J. F. Case, director of agriculture at the State Fair and president of the State Board of Agriculture. Of this amount $3000 will be awarded in the county exhibit department, the first prize being $1000.

Spirited competition is always assured for championship in the class of county exhibits. Each county is allotted show space in a spacious building of Missouri's $2,000,000 Fair plant, and there is assembled in display the particular county's finest products of the farm. Saline county won the $500 prize awarded in this class by the Fair Board last year.

Additional prizes in agriculture of $400 will be offered for the best individual farm exhibits. Entries are restricted to represent an average 120-acre farm.

JEFFERSON'S HOME WILLED TO SISTER BY OWNER

New York, March 10.—"Monticello," once the home in Albemarle County, Va., of Thomas Jefferson, to which title lately was acquired by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, is bequeathed by the will of Jefferson M. Levy, died today, to his sister, Amelia L. Mayhoff of New York, to whom all of Mr. Levy's other property also will go. The will was dated September 28, 1923.

Stuart G. Gibbons, president of the Jefferson Memorial Foundation, declared last week that the foundation had acquired title to "Monticello" by an initial payment of $100,000 on the purpose price of $500,000. He said Levy's death would not interfere with the plans to make the other installment payments and to raise $1,000,000 to support "Monticello" as a permanent Jefferson memorial.

FORD MUSCLE SHOALS BILL PASSES HOUSE

Washington, March 10.—The House today passed the McKenzie bill providing for acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals. The vote on passage was 228 to 142.

Efforts to make drastic changes in the measures failed, and it goes to the Senate practically as reported by the House Military Committee. Ford had informed the committee he would accept the terms of the McKenzie bill.

The vote was the first action by either the House or Senate on the Detroit man's bid for the government's vast power and nitrate projects on the Tennessee River, which has been pending for more than two years.

The bill directs the Secretary of War to sell nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2 and Waco Quarry to Ford and to lease dams Nos. 2 and 3, including power stations, to him for 100 years.

Provisions is made for the construction of a power plant to replace the Gorgas plant, recently sold to the Alabama Power Company. It would be included in the properties sold to Ford.

Just before the final vote opponents of the bill failed in an effort to put through an amendment to place Ford under the federal waterpower act and to limit his lease to fifty years.

Just prior to that roll calls were obtained on two amendments. The Madden amendment, providing for replacement of the Gorgas steam plant, was retained in the bill, while the Begg amendment, which would have enabled the government to recover its properties at Muscle Shoals in the event Ford violated his contract in any matter, was eliminated.

COTTON SPECIAL
HERE MONDAYSOME SCOTT COUNTY
FARM BUREAU NEWS

The Missouri Pacific Railroad, realizing that cotton growing promises to be an important part of the farm operations of Southeast Missouri, has decided to bring the cotton educational cars to Sikeston, Monday, March 17, arriving here at 8:43 and remaining until 4:45 p. m. the same day.

The Agricultural Development Department of the railroad has fitted up what is called an Agricultural Progress Exhibit Car, which together with lecture car will be used in Southeast Missouri to carry information direct to the business men and the farmers, on up-to-date methods of cotton growing, believing that it is performing a service that will be appreciated.

The exhibits and lectures, including motion pictures will show what has been done in the way of up-to-date cotton growing methods, also will demonstrate the value of fertilizers, the proper spacing of cotton in the row, results from different varieties, etc.

Local business men are asked to assist in this campaign by advertising the exhibits and getting the farmers and others interested in better farming to visit the exhibits. The school children should be given an opportunity also.

A novel feature of these exhibits is a complete radio outfit with a loud speaker, which is furnished by the Radio Department of Stix, Baer & Fuller, St. Louis for the purpose of furnishing special programs as a part of the campaign. The use of the radio in keeping the farmers posted on market conditions will be demonstrated.

This campaign is in charge of Jno. T. Stinson, Director of Agricultural Development of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, St. Louis, and T. M. Williams, Agricultural Agent, Missouri Pacific Railroad at Little Rock, Ark.

Dawes Is Not Blinded

Commenting on the progress of the Dawes committee and its investigation of German finances, the New York Evening Post says:

"Germany has been housecleaning ever since she heard General Dawes and his committee on reparations were to visit Berlin."

The dust seems to have been intended for the eyes of General Dawes, et al, that they might not see to clearly the flaws in budget and tax schedule. If there was any such intention it proved futile.

The best advice that could be given the German people is, "Don't let your representatives try any sharp practices or evasion of the truth with the American members of this special committee. They are bigger men in public and industrial life than most of those with whom they are dealing. For once, remember that you have to think straight, act straight and continue to play straight. The eyes of the world are watching the progress of this committee, the success of which means so much toward the permanent establishment of world peace and renewed industrial activity".

Mrs. Phoebe Nelson spent the weekend at Charleston with her folks.

Ira Molinaux, a special writer for the Twice-a-Week Globe-Democrat, was in Sikeston and called at The Standard office. He will prepare some articles on cotton farming in Southeast Missouri for his paper.

Frank Deane of Matthews was a business visitor in Sikeston Tuesday. He is a candidate for sheriff of New Madrid County and believes he has an excellent show to win the Democratic nomination. It has been a long time since a sheriff was selected from the upper end of New Madrid County and Mr. Deane is willing for the honors this time, to come his way.

How Chicks Are Pedigreed

The poultry department of the Missouri College of Agriculture is hatching 6000 chicks this spring, and a great many of these will be pedigreed. In building up high producing strains it is necessary, of course, to know definitely the ancestry of each chick. To make sure of this knowledge each chick is hatched inside a mosquito netting sack so that a leg number can be attached to the chick before the eggshell and its identifying number are lost.

In setting the incubators only trapped eggs are used, says H. L. Kempster, chairman of the poultry department. Trapnesting makes it possible to record on the egg the hen's number and the number of the pen, the latter indicating the male ancestry of the embryo within the egg.

There is an incubator sheet on which each egg in the machine is recorded. Twice a day the eggs are turned (the 18th day in the incubator) each egg is put in a sack, 6x10 inches, made of mosquito netting.

When the chick is taken from the sack a leg band is put on. In the record book an entry is then made of the leg-band number together with the number of the mother, pen, and the date hatched.

The complete record of each chick thus pedigree at the College shows not only the ancestry, but also the egg production record of each female ancestor as far back as trap-nest records have been kept. In this way it is possible to discover the high producing families and, by combining them, to improve the high laying strains.

The College of Agriculture does not sell baby chicks. All that are hatched by the poultry department are used to keep up the flocks that are used in experimental work and in student instruction.

Is Not Used For Ditching

"Can sodatol be used for blasting ditches to drain wet places?" is an inquiry which A. J. McAdams, specialist in land clearing for the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service, receives in the mail every day. Sodatol is the war salvage explosive made from surplus war materials and which is being distributed by the Agricultural Extension Service to the farmers of Missouri for the actual cost of handling.

Sodatol is not adapted to ditch blasting from a practical standpoint. It can, however, be used for this purpose providing an electric cap is placed in each stick and a blasting machine employed to explode all charges simultaneously, but even then the gases resulting from the explosion are too slow for economical and satisfactory work. Sodatol cannot be used in the "propagated" or "continuous" method of ditch blasting because it contains no nitroglycerine and is therefore very insensitive to shock. For this reason the Agricultural Extension Service advises against the use of sodatol in ditching. A 50 per cent straight nitroglycerine dynamite is the proper explosive to use when the course of the ditch is through soil containing a large amount of water. Under these conditions the "continuous" or "propagated" method can be used which means that a large number of charges can be exploded with one cap which adds speed to the work and does a more satisfactory job. The water in the soil acts as a "shock carrier" and 50 per cent dynamite becomes sensitive to shock is set off almost simultaneously. A cap and fuse properly greased and crimped or an electric blasting machine can be used with this method.

"Sodatol", continues Mr. McAdams, "is being distributed primarily for stumps and boulders. When used for this purpose it is just as good as the ordinary 40 per cent ammonia dynamite". The Agricultural Extension Service still has a small surplus on hand from which they can fill small orders immediately. This material is shipped to New Madrid and can be obtained through any County Agent in the district. Now is the best time of all to secure a cheap explosive. So act quick and get those stumps.

Land clearing demonstration was directed on the farm of W. S. Dunn, one-half mile south of Chaffee, on Tuesday, March 11. This statement may convey a number of articles which would be indefinite. The fact is that Southeast Missouri has added to its already well ordered program of agricultural development, the news which includes the important first step to convert former timber lands and former unendanted lands into productive agriculture ares. It is entirely due to Scott County Agent Renner. At the first effort in this direction started in Scott County, Mr. Renner makes the statement, we have many farms in Scott County burdened with stumps and land which must be drained if we are to keep up the pace set by Southeast Missouri, as a whole in agriculture production. Sometimes these have only scattering stumps in cultivated fields. While in some sections of our county there are many acres infested with stumps that they are useless. We want our farmers to get the best advice and we have taken advantage of our agriculture extension service, which offers the best information possible through Mr. McAdams, land reclamation specialist of the Missouri University. Weather conditions Tuesday was such as to make traveling impossible and attendance at the Chaffee field was not what was expected. Mr. Renner is therefore arranging a series of subsequent demonstrations at different points in the county, due notice of which will be given later.

Safe and economic methods concerning the handling of explosive and that of sodatol salvage war explosive was demonstrated by Mr. McAdams on Tuesday. For the information of the representatives of Scott County who attended the pruning school at Cape Girardeau, on Wednesday, March 5, were: Nick Menz of Chaffee, John R. Scherer, A. C. Miller and Wm. Hawkins of Commerce, L. Hahn and John Ludwige of Kelso, and A. J. Renner, County Extension Agent. The school was conducted by Max Keyser, County Agent of Cape County, Otis Wade and Asheigh on Tuesday. LETTER FROM THE AGRICULTURAL BUREAU

Southeast Missouri Movies May Have National Distribution

Upon the invitation of the American Farm Bureau Federation to be allowed an opportunity to review the Southeast Missouri moving picture, the Secretary of the Southeast Missouri Agricultural Bureau has been instructed by the Board of Directors to take the moving picture to the Chicago headquarters of the American Farm Bureau with a view to working out a plan to secure national distribution among the various county farm bureaus of the United States. The American Farm Bureau Federation distributes a number of interesting educational films among the county agents of the country and to other educational agencies. They have become interested in the Southeast Missouri film, and have asked to see it. If it is approved by them it will be sent to all parts of the country and systematically used.

We are authorized to announce G. F. Deane, of Matthews, as a candidate for Sheriff of New Madrid County, subject to the will of the Democratic voters at the August primary.

Walter Kendall is out for police chief of Sikeston and asks for consideration from the voters at the April election. He has lived here always, you know him well, and if you elect him to the office he promises to give the best that is in him.

The Anti-Saloon League counsel at Washington lays all the corruption to the "wets". The evidence has gone to show that the ones caught with the goods on them were the "drys" who sold out. This is true of Federal officials as well as State officials.

Children on the way to and from school should be warned by parents and teachers to watch for switching trains, to not crawl under cars, to not attempt to cross streets except at regular crossings. Some small boys of the grade school have even been riding freight cars in motion.

The Standard would like to see the Democratic State Convention, which meets at Springfield in April, endorse Hon. Fred Gardner for President of the United States. He is the strongest and most beloved Democrat in Missouri and it is fitting that this honor is bestowed on him. In a close nomination in New York he would be a dangerous antagonist.

There should be called a meeting of the real Democratic leaders of the State at an early date and go on record as claiming the right to name all political appointments from Missouri should the Democrats elect the President this fall, and they will. Reed should never be permitted to attempt to build another political machine in the State with which to crush real Democracy. Senatorial courtesy in Washington would not permit Reed to hold up confirmation for spite work, or if so, better straight Republican holdovers than political traitors.

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party"—if they have any good men. "Turn the rascals out" used to be the cry of the Democrats, but it looks as though the Republican leaders in State and Nations were afraid to start for fear there would be few left. Never has there been so much smoke and so much fire as has been discovered in Republican quarters. Our Charlie Prather from Advance in Stoddard County is accused of getting beer money. The same intimidation is given in the case of Heber Nations. His brother, Gus, the dry State agent, made a suspicious raid on a protected brewery one hour before Federal agents expected to close in on them. This move was made in an endeavor to "cover" the tracks of those giving protection. Governor Hyde is embarrassed but will clean the house of all under suspicion. It looks as though men sell their honor for mighty little money.

We are told that friends of the two candidates for Mayor are doing some pretty ugly talking this early in the campaign. This should not be countenanced as it is positively disgraceful. We have been a citizen of Sikeston for 11 years and in that time neither of these gentlemen have been arrested for being drunk and disorderly, neither of them have been indicted or arrested on any criminal charge or for a misdemeanor. They are both good citizens and law abiding and if it comes to vilifying and mud slinging to be elected Mayor, both should be beaten. What we want in Sikeston is a mayor who is progressive and clean in mind and habits. Neither of these gentlemen have given out their platform and it is on this that the people should stand. How do you stand on sewers, on paved streets, on more school room and a gymnasium, on keeping out fakers and skin game artists, on seeing that the ordinances are obeyed, on protecting and beautifying our parks and public institutions. Pay no attention to slurs on either of their characters, but look to their standing on the questions of the day.

The trouble with our Jamie is just the trouble with most of us. We get one thing only to want something else. Jamie has been doing as badly in the Senate as he possibly could do anywhere else, and we can see no reason in the world why he should not be perfectly dissatisfied. Evidently he isn't, or unless we misjudge him he would be unhappy. He wants now to be President, a place for which he has every disqualification we know anything about. Of course, the country could not think of it. It is compelled now and then to think of itself. The White House is surrounded by traditions which should be preserved at least until the people capture the government. It would never do in this age of innocence for tourists to see Jamie chasing somebody across the White House grounds with something twisted off the wall en passant. Some day, no doubt, the White House will be a workshop mindful of the necessities of the republic; but for the present it is no more than a tradition laid away in lavender until its usefulness can be restored. That is much too delicate a china shop to turn a bull into at the moment. We are for leaving Jamie where he is doing all the harm he should be doing. One thing at a time.

—McAdams in Post-Dispatch.

The Bludgeoning of Jim Reed

Again the Democrats of Missouri have repudiated Jim Reed. Four years ago, in convention assembled, they condemned him and his conduct, and by overwhelming vote refused to permit him to represent them in national convention. Not since then have they had an opportunity to express their opinion of him, free from alien interference. He won the Democratic nomination for Senator two years ago, it is true, but it was Democratic only in name. The majority of Democrats voted against him, but they were overcome by the votes of Republicans who cast Democratic ballots in the primaries in the cities. He was nominated for the Senate by the Democrats of Missouri, nor was he elected by them. In both primary and election the result was determined by Republican votes in his favor.

Yet knowing this, and knowing the antagonism of the Democrats not only of Missouri but of the country, he had the audacity to put himself up as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, and to ask the Democrats of Missouri to endorse him as their "favorite son".

God save the mark! Jim Reed the favorite son of the Democrats of Missouri, whom he had repeatedly betrayed and who had publicly and violently repudiated him! Such brazen and conscienceless effrontery has never been equaled in American politics. But it had one virtue—it gave the Democrats of Missouri a chance to tell him what they thought of him. And they have done so, emphatically. They have told him, and they have told the country, that he is not the "favorite son" of Missouri, that on contrary he and his works are utterly condemned and repudiated by the Democrats of this state.

This overwhelming defeat should finally eliminate Reed as a disturbing factor in Missouri politics. It should, but it will not. Unfortunately for Missouri, and for the country, Reed is still a member of the United States Senate, still in a position to make trouble, to exercise his extraordinary talents for destruction. And such are the attractions of his personality and the persuasiveness of his voice, that he will still have ardent followers. But the Democrats of Missouri may feel, at least, that they have finally disposed of him as a dominating factor in their state politics. They will now have an opportunity to restore party harmony and party unity and to work together for the achievement of Democratic purposes. We hope they will do this. Such violent party divisions as Reed as created in this state is not good for government nor the public welfare. And certainly it is destructive to the welfare of the party itself, which is an essential agency in our political system. The events of the last few days should make it clear that Reed is not a representative of the Democrats of Missouri, and in the event of the election of a Democratic President next November that fact should be so impressed upon Washington that Reed cannot be permitted to create a new power through the distribution of patronage.

But this experience of the party with Reed calls attention to a serious weakness of our primary system that demands a remedy in the interest of both parties. The purpose of the primary is to nominate party candidates. It is essential to our party system of government that party candidates be in fact representatives of the party freely chosen by the members of the party. The conventions of Friday and Saturday prove conclusively that Reed was not nominated by the Democrats two years ago, and had neither a moral nor a political right to a place on the Democratic ticket. But the law gave him that place, in clear violation of the essential principles of the party system. The law permitted voters who were not Democrats to invade the Democratic primaries and to force upon that party a candidate it had repudiated and disowned. That was a grievous wrong to the Democratic party, and it was thoroughly undemocratic and un-American. The law should be so corrected that it can never happen again, or the primary system should be abandoned for a better one.—Globe-Democrat.

W. L. Patterson is announced for City Attorney of Sikeston. He is well qualified for the position and promises to give his best efforts to the duties of the office if elected.

Clyde De Maris announced for City Collector some time since and The Standard failed at the time to give him the usual complimentary notice. He is making a house to house campaign and asking for votes. He is a young man who went to school here and feels that he is thoroughly competent to fill the position.

And they have done so, emphatically. They have told him, and they have told the country, that he is not the "favorite son" of Missouri, that on contrary he and his works are utterly condemned and repudiated by the Democrats of this state.

This overwhelming defeat should finally eliminate Reed as a disturbing factor in Missouri politics. It should, but it will not. Unfortunately for Missouri, and for the country, Reed is still a member of the United States Senate, still in a position to make trouble, to exercise his extraordinary talents for destruction. And such are the attractions of his personality and the persuasiveness of his voice, that he will still have ardent followers. But the Democrats of Missouri may feel, at least, that they have finally disposed of him as a dominating factor in their state politics. They will now have an opportunity to restore party harmony and party unity and to work together for the achievement of Democratic purposes. We hope they will do this. Such violent party divisions as Reed as created in this state is not good for government nor the public welfare. And certainly it is destructive to the welfare of the party itself, which is an essential agency in our political system. The events of the last few days should make it clear that Reed is not a representative of the Democrats of Missouri, and in the event of the election of a Democratic President next November that fact should be so impressed upon Washington that Reed cannot be permitted to create a new power through the distribution of patronage.

Not until the 16th century did the mirror become an article of the household.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
COMMITTEES MEET

Having decided to have every other regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a meeting of the officers and members of the various committees, the first meeting of the committees was held in the Chamber of Commerce room on March 10th, with 27 members present. All the officers and every committee was represented and an instructive meeting was held. Under the Civics Committee many things were brought up and ordered taken care of. Under the Safety Division, Joe Matthews suggested that measures be taken to stop the school children from playing around the freight cars, crawling underneath them, and hopping trains, as the children are becoming very careless in this respect. He also called the attention to the fact, that the children are also very careless in crossing the streets in front of motor vehicles and stated that a campaign of education might well be instituted in the schools to eradicate these careless habits. The matter was placed in the hands of Supt. Roy V. Ellise, a member of the Civics Committee.

Under the Charity Division of the committee, it was decided that no solicitors of funds or any charity whatsoever would be received by the members of the Chamber of Commerce unless said solicitors first presented a letter of endorsement, from the Committee on Charity. C. C. White was made chairman of this division and all solicitors should be sent to him for their credentials. The industry committee, J. A. Young, Chairman, had a compressor man present, who gave some very interesting data on the feasibility of establishing a cotton compressor in Sikeston in which the members present were greatly interested. Mr. Young also reported that the plans for the new Frisco depot were ready and that the new building would be on the east side of the railroad from Prosperity to Kendall streets.

Wednesday Musical Club

A gathering of musical women in Sikeston have organized a Club for the study of performance of music at their monthly meetings and to promote a musical interest in the community through their accomplishments and the endorsement of occasional artist programs.

MRS. MORROW OUT FOR

Warrensburg, Mo., March 12.—Mrs. Kate Shockley Morrow, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, informed her friends in her native town here today that she will become a candidate for Secretary of State, and will make formal announcement of her candidacy in a short time.

Mrs. Morrow is widely known throughout Missouri and has for many years held positions of trust in different state departments at Jefferson City. She is the widow of Col. Al Morrow, who was the confidential secretary of four Democratic Governors.

"Kentucky has a woman Secretary of State," say her friends at Warrensburg, "why not Missouri?"

Her friends here predict there will be a friendly feeling toward her candidacy over the state.

Dr. Frank Blanton spent the week in North Missouri in Macon and Paris visiting relatives.

CANDIDATES WHO CAME OUT
FOR REED IN QUANDARY

St. Louis, March 11.—Democratic aspirants for state offices who accepted the invitation of Ed A. Glenn, campaign manager for Senator Reed, to "come out for Reed", and who, in some instances, issued statements urging that Reed be endorsed for President, have incurred hostility of the better anti-Reed men, now triumphant in their victory over the Senator. The support gained from Reed adherents by their action is, on the other hand, probably negligible, in the opinion of many astute observers.

George H. Moore, former United States revenue collector and a candidate for governor, issued a public statement urging support of Reed.

Frank Armstrong of Harrison, Mo., former employee of the state senate and a candidate for secretary of state, also espoused Reed's cause.

Elmer Jones of Lapita, former state representative and a candidate for attorney general, made a similar declaration.

Efforts of Glenn to induce other candidates to join with Reed were unsuccessful. Robert E. L. Marrs of Carthage, a candidate for the nomination for state auditor; Willis N. Meredith of Poplar Bluff, an aspirant for attorney general; Dr. Arthur L. Nelson of Bunceton, an aspirant for governor, and virtually every other prospective candidate was solicited but turned down the request.

Meredith and Marrs were both at Hotel Jefferson while the Reed conference was held. Glenn told them Reed would sweep the state and that his support and that of his campaign organization would go to those aspirants for state offices who had helped him. Marrs told Glenn he was running for secretary of state and not for United States Senator. Meredith who is dry, and was the dry candidate four years ago, gave a similar answer.

Jones issued a statement from his home in Lapita urging that Missouri Democrats support Reed.

Mrs. Geo. A. Bruce left Wednesday for St. Louis to be gone for a few days.

Mrs. Moore Greer spent Thursday at Charleston with her mother, Mrs. Amy Marshall.

It was a surprise to friends of Hunter Albritton to learn of his marriage a week ago to Miss Beulah Freeman of New Madrid. They will be at the home of Mr. Albritton's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Albritton.

The Woman's Club held their regular meeting in the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance. After the regular business of the Club was disposed of, the program for the afternoon, "American Citizenship", was given by Prof. Roy V. Ellise, who made a splendid talk that was appreciated by those present. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roy V. Ellise on North Ranney, on March 25, for members only.

MISS M. E. MARTIN
Sikeston, Missouri

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM NEW MADRID

The community was deeply grieved and shocked at the announcement of the death of Miss Harriet Agatha Dawson, which occurred at St. Mary's Infirmary, Cairo, Sunday evening, March 9, 1924, at 6:15 o'clock, following an operation on Saturday, for tumor in her side. Always of delicate health, her suffering became so intense, in the last two or three weeks, she visited the hospital for an X-ray examination, the diagnosis being such, an operation was advised by physicians. Miss Dawson was born in this city February 4, 1885, and died at St. Mary's Infirmary, Cairo, Ill., March 9, 1924, age 39 years, 1 month and 5 days old and was the eldest daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Dawson. She was related to many of the oldest and prominent families throughout Southeast Missouri and had many friends who loved her for her disposition. She was a consistent member of the Catholic church and was noted for her Christian character. During the past year she served as Deputy Recorder under S. R. Hunter, Jr. Her remains were brought to New Madrid on the 5 o'clock train Monday and was met at the train by a concourse of relatives and friends. Funeral services were held at the Immaculate Church of Conception Tuesday morning at 9:00, conducted by Fr. D. J. Ryan. Interment at the Evergreen Cemetery. The deceased is survived by her mother, four sisters and six brothers, Mrs. Dixie Dawson, sisters Miss Columbe Dawson, Mrs. J. P. Hunter, Mrs. Wm. Mann and Mrs. W. R. Pinnell, brothers, Doyne, Paul, Luke, Ralph and Harold of this city and Gallard, of St. Louis, who have the profound sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

We, your committee on Resolutions, beg to make and do offer the following report:

Be it resolved, by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention assembled, that we note with extreme grief and regret the untimely death of our great Leader and Statesman, Woodrow Wilson, whose record as a citizen and the holder of the highest office of our country, has left in the Archives of his country and the hearts of the people a heritage beyond price and an inspiration to further generations.

Be it further resolved by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention, W. H. Meredith, for the office of attorney general of the State of Missouri.

Be it further resolved by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention assembled, that the delegates selected by this Convention to attend the State Convention at Springfield, Mo., go without instructions thereto; and that the vote of this County cast at said Convention be cast as a unit and the delegates this day selected or any of them so attending, shall cast the vote of this County.

Be it further resolved by the Democrats of New Madrid County, Missouri, in Convention assembled, that we, as Democrats, do not endorse the candidacy of either Senator James A. Reed or the Hon. Wm. G. McAdoo for the nomination of President.

Notice of City Election

Notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, that the General City Election will be held on Tuesday, April 1, 1924.

Said election will be held at the following places in said city:

SOLDIER BONUS AD LARGEST MAJORITY OF AMENDMENTS CARRIED

Jefferson City, Mo., March 11.—Six of the twenty-one propositions voted on at the special election held in Missouri on February 26 went over, as was shown by the official vote which was cast up and totals reached by Secretary of State Charles U. Becker this afternoon.

Of the six propositions that went over the soldier bonus amendment, carrying provision for issuance of $5,600,000 additional bonds to pay the 25,000 former service men whose claims could not be reached before the original issue of $15,000,000 of bonds was exhausted, led in point of majority, having $65,964 to the good.

None of the other five amendments are of importance, as all of the real work of the Constitutional Convention was badly snowed under by adverse majorities.

The amendments that won, in addition to the bonus amendment, the total vote on which was 201,218 for to 135,254 against, were as follows:

No. 8, relating to impeachment of state officers by requiring two-thirds of the Senators to vote in favor of impeachment. The vote on this was 163,642 for 162,440, or a majority of 1202.

No. 9, permitting production of ballot boxes before grand jury in fraudulent election cases. The vote on this was 175,580 for to 152,713 against.

No. 18, prohibiting nepotism in public offices in this state. The vote on this was 163,729 for to 161,648 against.

No. 19, permitting Kansas City to issue bonds for municipal improvements for long term instead of paying for improvements by special tax bills. For 178,311; no, 147,953; majority for, 30,358.

"SILENT COMMAND" IS FINE LESSON IN GRIT & LOYALTY

"The Silent Command" is a William Fox spectacular feature picture that has been booked at the Malone Theatre for Wednesday.

Its author is Rufus King, J. Gordon Edwards, the celebrated director of "The Queen of Sheba", "Nero" and other famous Fox productions, transferred the story from scenario form to the screen. The acting company comprises the name of several of the foremost bistrionic artists of the screen and stage.

Not since Edw. Everett Hale's remarkable story "The Man Without a Country" has anything been written that teaches courage and loyalty with such telling force and dramatic power. The keynote is struck in the very opening of the picture—vigorous mental and physical action that holds the interest from start to finish.

When the story begins Captain Richard Decatur, U. S. N., who is living at the executive mansion of the Governor of the Canal Zone, is being watched by three foreign spies. The trio have planted a diaphane in the library of the governor and learn that valuable plans, drawn by the naval officer, have been put into a secret safe in the library. Louis Hisston, the leader of the plotters, determines to obtain the plans. The governor's mansion is set on fire and an attempt is made on his life. Aid by Captain Decatur, he fights off his assailants, after throwing the plans into the flames.

This dramatic introduction is followed by a series of startling and intensely interesting incidents in which the inner workings of the United States Secret Service are revealed. There are scenes in the hidden retreat of the spies, glimpses of night life in New York, flashes of the movements of high officials in Washington, a fight for life during a storm at sea, and a shipwreck that leads in realism and thrill anything of this nature ever shown on the screen.

Volcanic Lava Tides

The discovery of daily and monthly "tides" in lava in the crater of Kilauea volcano in the Hawaiian Islands was made recently by Dr. T. A. Jaggar, director of the Hawaiian volcano observatory of the United States weather bureau. The observatory is on Kilauea.

Dr. Jaggar says the observations might be valuable in predicting future eruptions. The liquid lava shows a twice-a-day fluctuation in level of from two to seven feet, a daily variation of three to five feet, and a monthly shifting of the time of maximum and minimum level. This would not be the case if the tides were due to weather conditions which change irregularly, but it might be due, Dr. Jaggar says, to control by the sun and moon.

The hard lava floor of the crater shows a daily change in level of about one foot, but the times of maximum and minimum are nearly opposite those for the liquid lava, the high level occurring in the morning in the case of the liquid and after midnight in the case of the solid lava during a period of two months when observations were taken.

Farmers Agricultural Credit Corporation Organized at New Madrid

On Friday, March 7, at a meeting of the stockholders that subscribed for the original $10,000 of stock in the corporation Articles of Association and By-Laws were adopted. A board of seven directors were elected which were composed of J. K. Robbins and E. F. Sharp of Marston, J. E. McCord and L. B. Cravens of Lilbourn, Thos. L. Gallivan, J. M. Miles and M. F. Ehlers of New Madrid.

The officers elected at the first meeting were: M. F. Ehlers, President; E. F. Sharp, Vice-President; J. E. McCord, Treasurer and J. M. Miles, Secretary.

The purpose of the organization is to furnish credit for production purposes in New Madrid County.

Board of Directors of Missouri Cotton Growers Association to Meet

The monthly Board Meeting of the Directors of the Missouri Cotton Growers Co-operative Association will be held at the Association office at New Madrid on Thursday, March 20th at 10 a. m. The Board of Directors is composed of the following members of the Association:

X. Caverno, W. H. Tanner, J. K. Robbins, O. J. Butler, A. R. Zimmerman, John A. Montgomery, Ellis A. Jones, R. L. Shelby and C. O. Raine. The association will be represented at the Board meeting of the Arkansas Cotton Growers Association at Little Rock on Tuesday, March 18th, by John A. Montgomery and X. Caverno.

A total of $39,906.84 was sent the members of the Missouri Cotton Growers Co-operative Association from the office of the Arkansas Association on February 22. The Arkansas Association is selling the cotton for the Missouri Association. Payments are made from time to time as sufficient funds are accumulated from the proceeds of sale of members' cotton. It is sold in pools according to its value and as the market is in a condition to take it. Each member shares in the average price of the proceeds of each pool at the end of the season when all the cotton is sold.

The amount of money sent the members by counties is as follows:

Butler County	$ 551.24
Cape Girardeau	853.49
Dunklin	1311.43
Mississippi	8939.17
New Madrid	15666.30

Cotton Belt Special to Reach Missouri March 17th

On February 18th what is known as the Cotton Belt "Bitter and More Cotton" special train was made up under the direction of P. T. Cole, Agricultural Commissioner of the Cotton Belt and began a tour of its lines which will terminate at Dexter on March 20th.

"The slogan of the special," said Mr. Cole, "is 'More and Better Cotton on Less Acreage'" and the whole plant was born out of the definite decision of Cotton Belt officials that the fortunes of agricultural interests along the route of the Cotton Belt are identified with its interests. We recognize, Mr. Cole, that cotton is the major product in that territory served by our system. A desire to help up the general prosperity, increase the purchasing power of cotton growers and thus help ourselves ultimately finally took form in this, the first cotton train ever operated by any railroad. Every business, said Mr. Cole, has recognized and adopted progressive methods as fast as they have presented themselves. Agriculture alone having failed to properly organize and take advantage of improved production, handling and marketing methods. We hope, he said, to show through the exhibits on this train and by of lectures by specialists who accompany it what has been accomplished and what further can be achieved with modern methods.

Co-operating with the Cotton Belt and Mr. Cole the following have filled two large cars with one of the most interesting collections of cotton exhibits ever got together: The U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Southern Soil Improvement Committee, the Texas Seed Breeders' Association, the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Marketing Association, the Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, the Missouri Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, numerous farm implement manufacturers of boll weevil poison and the College of Agriculture of the University of Arkansas, and several southern textile mills.

G. S. Meloy, Cotton Specialist U. S. Department of Agriculture is in charge of the department's exhibits showing the standards of American cotton, recently adopted as world wide, and the damage resulting to cotton not warehoused. It is interesting to note that the department conducted experiments which showed that cotton loses from 7 to 232 pounds per bale when not hoisted. J. C. Pridmore, agronomist, represents the Southern Soil Improvement Committee, and explains in a very thorough manner the proper analysis and fertilization of soils.

A. W. Jordan of the Mebane cotton seed company is in charge of the pure seed exhibits and in his numerous talks has consistently advocated careful selection of seed as to pedigree and percentage of germination.

A representative of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Marketing Association accompanied the special to Texarkana and Jesse M. Miles, secretary of the Missouri Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association will become attached to the special when it reaches Missouri. Carl E. Bailey, Assistant Secretary of the Arkansas Cotton Growers Co-operative Association, is representing the Association on the special throughout Arkansas and will leave the train when it reaches Campbell. In this connection it is interesting to note, and adds a touch of local color, that Mr. Bailey spent his boyhood in Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas. He finished high school at Campbell in 1912 and has since been admitted to the practice of law in Arkansas. He is quite well known throughout Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas.

E. A. Hodson, specialist with the extension division of the Arkansas College of Agriculture delivers an address at each stop in which he details the result of cotton spacing experiments, etc., which have been conducted by the experiment station of that college.

The special, consisting of two exhibit cars and a cafe-diner for the accommodation of those in charge of the exhibits, is in charge of Mr. Cole. He states that 43 stops were made in Texas and that more than 25,000 viewed the exhibits and listened to the lectures. A total of 26 points will be visited in Arkansas. At no point visited thus far, Mr. Cole states, has less than 300 inspected the exhibits and listened to the lectures, and in numerous instances more than 1100 have passed thru the train.

The itinerary of the special runs Southeast Missouri is as follows:

March 18—Campbell, 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., Malden, 4:00 to 5:30 p. m.

March 19—Parma, 9:00 to 10:00 a. m., Lilbourn, 10:45 to 11:45 a. m., New Madrid, 12:15 to 1:15 p. m., East Prairie, 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., Aniston, 3:45 to 4:45 p. m., Wyatt, 5:15 to 6:00 p. m.

March 20—Bernie, 8:30 to 10:30 a. m., Dexter, 11:20 to 2:00 p. m.

"POTASH AND PERLMUTTER" POSSESSES NOTABLE CAST

One of the most notable casts that has ever graced a motion picture will be seen next Friday at the Malone Theatre, when "Potash and Perlmutter", a First National picture produced by Samuel Goldwyn, will be shown. It is conceded to be one of the most important assemblages of dramatic personalities ever gathered for film production.

Not content with securing most of the favored members of the original stage production, headed by Alexander Carr and Barney Bernard, the co-stars, Mr. Goldwyn, signed up Vera Gordon and Lee Kohlmar, two celebrities, in addition.

Carr and Bernard play their original parts, as Mawruss Perlmutter and Abe Potash, and Vera Gordon, who attained instant fame in "Hu-moresque", is cast as Rosie Potash. This is the first real camera experience of Carr and Bernard, and previous to the shooting of the film Director Clarence Badger experimented with the two stars until they were as at home in the studio as on the stage.

These popular players have in their support Hope Sutherland, a talented recruit from the speaking stage; Martha Mansfield, a featured player for many years; Ben Lyons, who has won his spurs on Broadway; and Adolph Miller, Eduard Durand and Barlowe Borland. In addition many professional clothing models will be seen on the screen.

Great Results From Millinery School
At Matthews

The Millinery School held at Matthews the first of the week terminated with very successful results. Miss Mary E. Robinson, Millinery Specialist of the University of Missouri can add another well done piece of work to her already large list of achievements. The school was held at the home of Mrs. Leon Swartz and lasted for two days. Eleven ladies attended the two days, and eleven beautiful hats were made at a large saving. The ladies attending were: Miss Flo King, Mrs. Leon Swartz, Mrs. J. R. King, Mrs. Leon Swartz, Miss Vanita Hicks, of Matthews; Mrs. C. A. Biser, Canalou; Mrs. E. A. Hensley, Mrs. Clifford Sutton, Mrs. J. W. Ogle, Mrs. E. E. Caldwell, Mrs. C. C. Burchan, Sikeston.

The afternoon of the second day, the ladies from Lilbourn, who worked with Miss Robinson at that place, visited the Matthews School, and wore the hats that they had made.

The County Agent has many requests from communities throughout the county for the services of Miss Robinson. He cannot fill them all, however, he hopes to have Miss Robinson for another two-day school during the month of March.

Farmers Becoming Interested In Fertilizer.

From the office of the New Madrid County Farm Bureau comes the information that an increased interest is being displayed by the farmers of New Madrid County, regarding the use of fertilizer for crops, and particularly cotton. A number of orders were received at the office and it was thought advisable to buy a car load of fertilizer. These orders were pooled and, although they would not quite amount to a full car load, the Farm Bureau felt obligated to secure fertilizer for these men, and consequently bought, and have received this fertilizer. All of the demands were for Acid Phosphate and a little mixed fertilizer, which indicates that the farmers are accepting the recommendation of Mr. Trotter, Cotton Specialist of the University of Missouri, and will be held on the

It is an accepted fact that fertilizer used intelligently will pay. In view of the fact that very few farmers in this county have used fertilizer on cotton, the Farm Bureau office advises everyone interested to use some fertilizer, preferably Acid Phosphate, but use it only on a small field of about ten acres, and compare the results obtained with a ten acre field that has received no fertilizer. The farmer who uses fertilizer in this manner will be able to tell whether he wishes to treat his whole farm, or whether he wishes to try a different kind of fertilizer, in other words, he will have results upon which to base the next year's operation.

Another Car Load of Sodatol For New Madrid County

That the farmers of Southeast Missouri are taking advantage of the opportunity offered by the United States Government of procuring a good explosive cheaply, is shown by the fact that a second car load of this explosive, Sodatol, has been ordered through the Farm Bureau of New Madrid County. It has been only a matter of three weeks since the first car load of Sodatol was received and distributed among the farmers of Southeast Missouri. The results have been so satisfactory, and the cost so much less than any other explosive to be had, that as a result more orders from different parts of Southeast Missouri were sent in to the New Madrid County Farm Bureau office, and so another car has been ordered and is probably enroute. This explosive is equivalent to 40 per cent dynamite, and is used in the blowing of stumps. It can be had for practically one-third of the cost of dynamite, and the fact that the farmers realize that this is indeed an opportunity, is very gratifying to those who have the interest of Southeast Missouri at heart.

Big Land Clearing Demonstration In New Madrid County March 21

The farmers and landowners of New Madrid County will be given the opportunity of seeing a very unusual and large scale demonstration, showing the use of improved methods in land clearing work. AGRICULTURE TO RECEIVE $5000 AT STATE FAIR

Sedalia, Mo., March 10.—Five thousand dollars will be awarded in premiums for the best agricultural products exhibited at the Missouri State Fair, August 16 to 23, according to a recent announcement of J. F. Case, director of agriculture at the State Fair and president of the State Board of Agriculture. Of this amount $3000 will be awarded in the county exhibit department, the first prize being $1000.

Spirited competition is always assured for championship in the class of county exhibits. Each county is allotted show space in a spacious building of Missouri's $2,000,000 Fair plant, and there is assembled in display the particular county's finest products of the farm. Saline county won the $500 prize awarded in this class by the Fair Board last year.

Additional prizes in agriculture of $400 will be offered for the best individual farm exhibits. Entries are restricted to represent an average 120-acre farm.

JEFFERSON'S HOME WILLED TO SISTER BY OWNER

New York, March 10.—"Monticello," once the home in Albemarle County, Va., of Thomas Jefferson, to which title lately was acquired by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, is bequeathed by the will of Jefferson M. Levy, filed today, to his sister, Amelia L. Mayhoff of New York, to whom all of Mr. Levy's other property also will go. The will was dated September 28, 1923.

Stuart G. Gibbons, president of the Jefferson Memorial Foundation, declared last week that the foundation had acquired title to "Monticello" by an initial payment of $100,000 on the purpose price of $500,000. He said Levy's death would not interfere with the plans to make the other installment payments and to raise $1,000,000 to support "Monticello" as a permanent Jefferson memorial.

FORD MUSCLE SHOALS BILL PASSES HOUSE

Washington, March 10.—The House today passed the McKenzie bill providing for acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals. The vote on passage was 228 to 142.

Efforts to make drastic changes in the measures failed, and it goes to the Senate practically as reported by the House Military Committee.

Ford had informed the committee he would accept the terms of the McKenzie bill.

The vote was the first action by either the House or Senate on the Detroit man's bid for the government's vast power and nitrate projects on the Tennessee River, which has been pending for more than two years.

The bill directs the Secretary of War to sell nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2 and Waco Quarry to Ford and to lease dams Nos. 2 and 3, including power stations, to him for 100 years.

Provisions is made for the construction of a power plant to replace the Gorgas plant, recently sold to the Alabama Power Company. It would be included in the properties sold to Ford.

Just before the final vote opponents of the bill failed in an effort to put through an amendment to place Ford under the federal waterpower act and to limit his lease to fifty years.

Just prior to that roll call were obtained on two amendments. The Madden amendment, providing for replacement of the Gorgas steam plant, was retained in the bill, while the Begg amendment, which would have enabled the government to recover its properties at Muscle Shoals in the event Ford violated his contract in any matter, was eliminated.

"WHY WORRY?"

IT'S ALWAYS DANGEROUS TO PUT THINGS DOWN ON PAPER

Be careful what you write on paper. It may get you into a lot of trouble, says Dorothy Macaill.

Featured in Sam Wood's latest production for Paramount, "The Next Corner," Dorothy Macaill writes a letter to her husband, in which she tells him that she is leaving him forever and intends to go with another man. Five minutes after the letter is started on its journey, the other man is killed.

"It is always a dangerous thing to put things down on paper," says the beautiful young English actress. "Words are fleeting things and soon fall silent but pen and ink are deadly things."

"Nearly all the agony suffered by the character I play in 'The Next Corner' is caused by the fact that somewhere in the mails is the letter which she wrote in a moment of passion. I have known many another woman, who bitterly regretted writing certain letters.

"My advice is never put it on paper. Cultivate the art of writing what are known as 'glittering generalities'. They will never get you into trouble, but just as surely as the sunrise, if you persist in committing serious things to paper, the habit will get you into trouble".

The featured players in "The Next Corner," which was produced from the novel and play of the same name by Kate Jordan and which comes to the Maone Theatre for a twod yas' run next Monday, are Conway Tearle, Loni Chaney, Dorothy Macaill, Ricardo Cortez and Louise Dresser. The story was written for the screen by Monte M. Katterjohn.
